

ONLINE

Photo credit: © Anita Staff

British Centre for Literary Translation in partnership with the National Centre for Writing

International Literary Translation and Creative Writing Summer School 2021

19–24 July 2021

APPLICATIONS NOW OPEN!

www.bclt.org.uk

British Centre for Literary Translation

“It has given me clear guidance on the steps I need to take to make a start in literary translation.”

“A space to let us explore our creativity, share ideas and encourage each other to move onwards and upwards with our dreams and passions.”

“I am thrilled with the online experience and how professionally it was handled. Very impressed how you managed to also bring a social aspect to the course... BCLT Summer School was a fantastic experience. Professional. Inspirational. Fun. Exhausting. Enlightening.”

Price £275

Bursaries are available – Find out more on the BCLT website

This renowned Literary Translation Summer School brings together writers and translators, from around the world, for a unique and intensive one-week programme of hands-on literary translation and creative writing practice. The programme also includes panel discussions and short talks on industry topics, and readings with both authors and literary translators.

Closing date for applications is Mon 12 April 2021

Email: bclt@uea.ac.uk

www.bclt.org.uk

Workshop strands available in 2021 are:

- Chinese to English
- Danish to English
- Dutch to English
- French to English
- German to English
- Italian to English
- Japanese to English
- Multilingual Prose (Less Translated Languages), translating into English
- Multilingual Theatre, translating into English
- Training the Trainer

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

Nederlands letterenfonds
dutch foundation for literature

swiss arts council
prohelvetia

We are also supported by the Tadashi Yanai Initiative for Globalizing Japanese Humanities at UCLA and Waseda University