

Seminar in political ecology

Historical political ecology: constituting African resources and commodities

28-29 November 2024

THURSDAY UNIL

Amphipôle 210 (morning)
Géopolis 1620 (afternoon)

- 9h00-11h00 Circulating objects, African agency: local commodities, colonial entanglements
- 11h30-13h00 Constituting global commodities: building imperial plantations
- 14h30-16h00 Young scholars workshop
- 16h30-17h30 Plenary session

FRIDAY

Neuchâtel botanical garden

- 10h00-11h45 Visit of the Business Plantes exhibition with Elodie Gaille, curator
- 13h45-14h15 La voie végétale du commerce triangulaire, présentation by Elodie Gaille
- 14h30-16h00 Roundtable: How Can Museums Engage with Colonial Histories?

Info: <https://www.unil.ch/igd/historical-political-ecology-2024>

Registration: <https://framaforms.org/as-in-political-ecology-2024-1726750681>

Unil

UNIL | Université de Lausanne

Institute of Geography
and Sustainability

28 november 2024

Amphipôle 210

8h45 Welcome words

Valérie Boisvert & Aurore Rimlinger (UNIL, CH).

9h00 Circulating objects, African agency: local commodities, colonial entanglements

Shantel George (University of Glasgow, UK). Casting the kola nut on new ground: Globalizing an African seed

Malika Kraamer (Global Heritage Lab, University of Bonn, DE). Abolitionism and Kente cloth: Early modern West African textiles in Thomas Clarkson's chest

Jonathan Robins (Michigan Technological University, USA). Palm oil or palm wine? Commodities and anti-commodities in colonial West Africa, ca. 1900-1960

Andrew Wardell (CIFOR, Copenhagen, DK). Globalizations in a nutshell - Tracing a 700-year history of the shea trade in West Africa

11h00 Coffee break

11h30 Constituting global commodities: building imperial plantations

Jelmer Vos (University of Glasgow, UK). The political economy of large versus small: Lessons from coffee and rubber production in Angola (19th-20th centuries)

Maria Do Mar Gago (Universidade Nova de Lisboa, PT). Ecology, colonialism and indigenous species: The case of Angola coffee in the Portuguese empire (1898-1939)

Alice Rudge (SOAS, University of London, UK). Cultivating "care": Colonial botany and the moral lives of oil palm at the twentieth century's turn

13h00 Lunch, Geopolis Cafeteria, UNIL

Geopolis 1610

14h30 Young scholars workshop

16h00 Coffee break

16h30 Plenary session

international
graduate school
north-south

29 november 2024

8h15 Departure by train for the visit
(meeting point: in front of Renens train station)

10h00 Business Plantes, the true nature of the economy. Exhibition at the Neuchâtel Botanical Garden

with Elodie Gaille, NBG curator and ethnobotanist

Essential to our survival, plants are the pillars of our economy. Neither gold, nor the rare metals in our telephones, nor even coins can meet so many of our basic needs.

Like the famous business plan of any company, this exhibition tells the story of how plants have influenced the history of mankind and how they impact our daily lives today. As climate moderators and purveyors of biodiversity, plants must be at the heart of not only our ecological concerns, but also our economic ones.

12h00 Lunch, Neuchâtel Botanical Garden

13h45 «La voie végétale du commerce triangulaire», presentation by Elodie Gaille

14h30 Roundtable: How Can Museums Engage with Colonial Histories?

Chanelle Adams (UNIL, CH)

Tomás Bartoletti (ETH Zürich, CH)

Malika Kraamer (Global Heritage Lab, University of Bonn, DE)

Fabio Rossinelli (UNIL, CH)

international
graduate school
north-south

CUO
CONFÉRENCE UNIVERSITAIRE
DE SUISSE OCCIDENTALE

jbn
jardin botanique
neuchâtel

Unil
UNIL | Université de Lausanne
Institute of Geography
and Sustainability